April and Todd, et al,

The English program-change proposal was considered by the Curriculum Committee today.

The change in the prerequisite to Eng. 211, from 102 to 101, was accepted after being changed to a new action item, since this proposal affects not only English majors but all Liberal Core students.

Concerning the rest of the proposal, a change in wording was suggested by Tucker Landy. In his opinion, the rationale for the program change is too "thin." He was worried that the proposal would be sent back by the Provost due to this lack of a strong reason for the change.

I suggested a new wording, and this was received positively by the committee.

Here is the new wording, as suggested by me. Feel free to make changes:

The English department is increasing the hours in the program as a result of the reduction in liberal studies requirements. The program for English majors will be strengthened by adding more hours in specific courses that will be required for the English major. English majors will be better prepared for graduate study or secondary-school teaching by being required to take more hours in specific course areas.

In order for our proposal to be sent to the Faculty Senate, the changes in wording must be sent to Tucker Landy by close of business, Tuesday, April 1.

I do not have a copy of the Word document for the proposal, so I cannot personally make the changes requested.

April or Todd, if you have the original documents, can you make the changes and then create the new PDF document? The signature of the Dean can be added later. We need to get the new document to Tucker by Tuesday afternoon.

Hope to hear from you soon,

Cathy
