Enjoy the simple things of life.
The other day I went for a leisure stroll to clear my mind. Filled with anxiety and discouragement, I figured that a walk on a crisp, cool day would simmer me down. Yet, my thoughts continued to race and the more I walked the more discouraged I began to feel.

On my second stroll around the track, a gentle breeze encompassed my entire being. It was peaceful and gentle and brought a smile to my face. I took the moment to express gratitude for God’s beautiful creation and the healing power it brings. Suddenly, my mind became clear and I was able to put my mind at ease. Moreover, it was at this moment that I learned a valuable lesson: enjoy the simple things in life.

Sometimes when life seems to burden us down or we feel as if we can’t see the sun because of the clouds, it is important to take the time to enjoy the simple things in life. Take the time to observe how the trees provide shade from the sun or provide the cooling system of the wind. Observe the beautiful colors of the butterfly or the birds that fly in the air. Listen to the laughter of a baby or the sound of a child playing in the park. These are the simple things that we often overlook—the small things that create moments of joy.
